Firm's Operations During Covid-19 Virus Response

We at DiFrancesco Bateman recognize that our community will be facing many challenges in the coming weeks and months. It is our intention to do our best to continue to assist our clients during this time. While the health and safety of our clients, professionals, employees, and families is our primary focus, we intend to continue to provide the same care and attention that each of our clients expects and deserves. Accordingly, the attorneys and staff at DiFrancesco Bateman will continue to be fully available to our clients and colleagues during these uncertain times. The firm has technology that enables our professionals and much of our staff to work remotely. This allows us to provide service to our clients without disruption while also protecting our employees and clients from the risk of exposure. As the offices will remain open for certain purposes, we intend to provide a safe workplace for those who will continue to staff the offices by instituting policies that require employees to stay home if sick, if they have had contact with a potentially affected person, or if they are in the high-risk category. We have also instituted policies that include very limited or no on-site meetings, encouraging our professionals to schedule calls in lieu of in-person meetings, and limiting all business travel. We appreciate your understanding and cooperation as we implement these measures and endeavor to provide you the support and services you need and expect from us. Most importantly, we hope that you are able to remain healthy and safe.
